Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Wednesday 03 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Patchy rain, hill snow moving south then brightening on Thursday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Clear spells in parts of the west. Otherwise largely cloudy with a few showers spreading south. A few clear spells in the far north later. Freshening northeast winds in north.

Thursday:
Mainly cloudy morning with showery rain and hill snow moving southwards. Largely dry with increasing amounts of sunshine following south afternoon. Chilly northeast breeze.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
A sharp frost on Friday morning then dry with sunny spells. Mainly dry and bright on Saturday and Sunday with overnight frosts but patchy rain in the north and west.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.